

Free on-site Agile/Scrum training

For a limited time we're offering a 2-day on-site Scrum Master or Product Owner class, for FREE! All you need to provide is between 10 and 30 people to be trained and a suitable venue in the San Francisco Bay Area.

The classes follow the curriculum set by the Scrum Alliance. However, at the end of the training the attendees will not be able to take the Certified Scrum Master or Certified Scrum Product Owner test. We are Certified Scrum Professionals and have more than 10 years each of experience in Agile project and product management, training and coaching. However, in order to become Certified Scrum Trainers we need to collect and submit evidence of our training experience. That is why we are offering our time for free.

Benefits

- On-site training
- Up to 30 people trained for free
- Training by experienced hands-on practitioners that work with Agile teams day in, day out
- Did we mention that the course is entirely FREE?

 Expert Agile Training

There is no fee for the training. However, we do have some requests in order to satisfy the Scrum Alliance requirements for certification:

- The training must take place over 2 consecutive days (8 hours per day) for between 10 and 30 people (preferably, but not necessarily, on a Saturday and Sunday).
- Students will be required to complete a brief training feedback form and we will need two Letters of Recommendation.
- You will permit us to make a video recording of the training that will only be shared with the Scrum Alliance, and only if requested by them.
- You will be responsible for providing a suitable room, projector, refreshments and for making photocopies of handouts.
